While examining Eastern press reports of the recent St. Petersburg International Economic Forum for news that went largely unnoticed in the West, I came across a Greek Reporter article titled Greek PM Tsipras Meets with Gazprom Chief, BRICS Delegation in St Petersburg. It contained this telling section...

>>> Tsipras also met with representatives of the new development bank for BRICS countries, who expressed their intense interest in cooperating with Greece.

*The Greek Prime Minister was accompanied by Productive Reconstruction, Environment and Energy Minister Panagiotis Lafazanis, while the BRICS delegation included its chief, Kundapur Vaman Kamath, IMF's Executive Director and new Vice President of the BRICS bank Paulo Nogueira Batista, Russia's Deputy Finance Minister Sergei Storchak and the head of state bank Vnesheconombank (VEB), Vladimir Dmitriev. <<<

In the Western news reports of the time, I saw it mentioned that Tsipras met with Putin, but I heard nothing about him meeting with the head of the BRICS Bank, K.V. Kamath...

...who is one of the "Davos boys." It was an interesting oversight on the part of the Western press.

Even more interesting than that was the mention that one of the IMF's Executive Directors is also a Vice President of the BRICS Bank. According to the IMF website...

"The Executive Board (the Board) is responsible for conducting the day-to-day business of the IMF. It is composed of 24 Directors, who are appointed or elected by member countries or by groups of countries, and the Managing Director, who serves as its Chairman. The Board usually meets several times each week. It carries out its work largely on the basis of papers prepared by IMF management and staff."

One of those Board members is this man...

Paulo Nogueira Batista, Jr. Ivan Oliveira Lima Pedro Fachada	Brazil	43,243
	Cabo Verde	850
	Dominican Republic	2,927
	Ecuador	4,216
	Guyana	1,647
	Haiti	1,557
	Nicaragua	2,038
	Panama	2,804
	Suriname	1,659
	Timor-Leste	846
	Trinidad and Tobago	4,094	65,881	2.61

And who trained this Mr. Batista?...

If we look again at the BRICS Post article that announced Batista's selection to the BRICS Bank, it offers an additional bit of interesting information...

"The first meeting of the bank's board of governors will be in early July during the BRICS summit in Russia, at which it will formally appoint its president and vice-presidents..."

Zhu Xian, vice-president of the World Bank, has been picked by China as one of the four vice-presidents."

So who will be running the "fresh, new" BRICS Bank?
Guys who hang out at Davos, who help run the "tainted, old" IMF and World Bank, and who are trained by the London Establishment and the Vatican Jesuits.
